2. During classes at the clinical departments, students are obliged to wear a name tag (identification card) visibly displayed

Article 3

Academic Year

At the Faculty both the Winter and the Summer semester shall last 15 weeks.

Article 4

Auditing the Course of Study

1. The timetable for auditing the course of studies is annually displayed at the official notice board of the Faculty not later than 2 months before the audit starts.
2. Students of Master's degree programmes are obliged to submit their study credit book as well as a list of registered courses for the following academic year at the Students

Office at the Dean's Office. After the course of studies has been audited and a note thereof has been made by the competent Students Office staff member in the study credit book, students are not allowed to register for other obligatory courses.

3. The date of the main audit of the course of studies shall correspond to the date when the teaching period starts – see the respective Academic Year Calendar. Should the student fail to undergo the audit of the course of studies, this shall constitute a breach of the Code.

Article 5

Credit System

1. In the first year of study, students are obliged to register for all obligatory courses in their respective field of study.
2. If the curriculum designates an obligatory course to be completed in the first year of study, such a course can be registered for only once and students must obtain credits for it in the first year of study. Failure to meet this requirement shall be deemed to be failure to acquire the required number of credits for an academic year, or a block or phase of studies, pursuant to the Code.
3. Two courses at the Faculty may be related as follows:
 - a) no relationship – registration for a course is not subject to any conditions.
 - b) conditioned by registration – students may register for the course if they have simultaneously registered for or previously completed the prerequisite course. However, students are obliged to complete the prerequisite subject first, no matter what the form of completion of the course is (course credit, examination, colloquium).
 - c) conditioned by completion – students may register for the course only if they have completed the prerequisite course.
 - d) preclusive – during the course of their studies students may only register for one of the courses in question.

4. In one academic year, students are obliged to register for courses totalling at least 40 and at most 90 credits.
5. Credits acquired during previous study are included in the total of credits only if the student applies for their recognition and the Dean of the Faculty so approves. If credits from previous study are recognized, the decision on the recognition shall state the number of credits that the student must acquire to advance to the following year of study
6. Only courses listed on the official notice board of the Faculty for the respective academic year may be enrolled from optional courses listed in the programmes of study of other faculties of Palacký University (hereinafter referred to as "UP") or in an all-university list of courses.
7. The total of credits acquired from courses completed at other UP faculties must not exceed 2 credits in one academic year, i.e. a total of 10 credits for the whole period of study.
8. The minimum number of credits which the student shall acquire for obligatory, elective and optional subjects is defined by the student's respective study plan. Acquisition of these credits is a necessary precondition to sit for the State Final Examination.

Article 6

Course of Study

1. Students are obliged to attend classes where 100% attendance is required. If a student fails to attend such classes due to health or other serious reasons, he or she must attend substitute classes provided that he or she has provided a satisfactory excuse. A maximum of one third of obligatory class time may be made up for. Whether the reason stated is serious enough and excusable shall be determined by the respective teacher. In the event that the excuse has not been accepted, students may ask the head of the department which guarantees the course to have the situation reviewed.
2. Students from the Czech programmes of study General Medicine and Dentistry preparing to complete part of their studies abroad under an Exchange programme contract may, as part of their preparation, attend some courses in English, provided the capacity of the course in question allows so.

3. Any cheating or attempted cheating in fulfilling the study requirements will be dealt with by the Disciplinary Committee of the Faculty. The disciplinary proceedings will be based on the report under Appendix No. 2 hereto drawn up as soon as any cheating or attempted cheating has been discovered. The report must be submitted by the respective head of the department to the Faculty's Students Office.

Article 7

Interruption of Studies

A student who has been granted an interruption of studies is obliged to submit his or her study credit book and identification card to the Students Office of the Faculty not later than eight days after the studies have been interrupted, together with evidence showing that all obligations towards UP have been settled.

Article 8

Course Completion

1. When completing a multi-semester course with course credit, the proper sequence of the courses must be followed. Students are obliged to complete classes and acquire credit from the previous semester first.
2. The head of the department, which guarantees the course, may extend the examination period for retakes until the deadline for the fulfilment of study requirements for the given academic year as defined in the academic year calendar if the ensuing examination period was the examination period after the winter semester.
3. Examination dates shall follow immediately after the teaching period of the semester or immediately after the so-called block teaching has finished, no later than within 14 days. Students who have attended block teaching are entitled to sit for the examination at a date following the respective block. For courses taught regularly in a semester, regular examination dates shall be announced within 4 weeks after the beginning of the teaching period, so that the registration date for the exam is announced at least 3 days in advance. The total capacity of examination dates, including the retake dates, in an academic year must be in agreement with the number of students registered for the course in the respective semester. In the event that the capacity of the scheduled examination dates is not sufficient, the Dean of the Faculty shall ask the head of the department which guarantees the course in writing that more examination dates be announced. The authorized employee shall enter the exam results in the electronic study records system not later than within 3 days after the examination date; if the examination is taken in the last week before the deadline, the authorized employee shall enter the results in the system not later than at 3 pm of the business day following the deadline.

4. In the electronic study records system, students may withdraw from an examination date not later than 7 days before the actual examination date. After such time, it is only possible to withdraw from the date at the respective department if the guarantor of the course deems the withdrawal to be justified.

Article 9

Examination

Preparing for and sitting for an examination does not constitute an excuse to be absent from regular classes in other courses.

Article 10

Board Examination

1. In one academic year, students may not sit for an examination in a registered course more than 3 times.
2. If it is the first time the student has registered for the course, the second retake shall take place before a board appointed by the head of the departments guaranteeing the course. If the student has registered for the course repeatedly, then such a retake takes place before a board appointed by the Dean of the Faculty upon a proposal by the head of the departments guaranteeing the course.

3. If the course is registered for repeatedly, the second retake shall be attended by a Vice-Dean, or as the case may be, an authorized member of the Vice-Dean's Education Committee.
4. With respect to the second retake, the report on the examination shall be signed by all members of the Board. The report on the examination shall include the dates of the preceding examination dates on which the student has failed.
5. The board examination may be in the form of a test, written in the presence of at least one teacher. Members of the board participate in the assessment of the test.

Article 11

State Final Examination

1. With reference to Act No. 111/1998 of the Coll., on universities, and on the amendment and modification of other acts (Universities Act), as amended, the General Medicine and Dental Medicine programmes of study are completed by State Comprehensive (Rigorosum) Examinations.
